The study of East Asian Languages & Culture is intended for students who wish to focus on a particular disciplinary issue in East Asian studies -- art history, history, politics, religion, language, or a transnational issue -- in the context of the study of East Asian languages and culture. The major is multicultural and interdisciplinary, requiring students to take courses in more than one area of the region with concentrations offered in Chinese and Japanese culture.

WHAT ELSE CAN YOU DO WITH THIS MAJOR?

- Consider pursuing a graduate program in library studies or archival management.
- Consider pursuing law school.
- Consider applying to the prestigious JET Program to teach English in Japan the year after you graduate.
- Supplement your coursework with classes from other majors such as Economics.
- Acquire strong skills in research, speaking and writing.
- Learn to network and make contacts.
- Endeavor to be appointed to college committees.
- Explore internships and opportunities both in Los Angeles and abroad which are focused on the Pacific Rim.
- Explore other industries such as public policy, the arts, and international business.
- Create a portfolio of writing and/or ideas.
- Apply to become a Resident Advisor or Programming Assistant for the Intercultural Community Center.
- Participate in cultural, social justice and/or political action clubs/organizations.