THANK YOU LETTER GUIDE

WHAT IS A THANK YOU LETTER?
A thank you, or follow-up letter, may be one of the most important letters of your job search. It is a way of offering your appreciation for being given an interview and, in some cases, accepting or declining an offer. Most importantly, it is another way of further marketing yourself and impressing potential employers. Most thank you letters are submitted via email, though sometimes you may want to make an impression by sending a handwritten card.

Thank you letters are usually personal and express your sincere interest in the position and the organization. They expand upon your qualifications, illustrate examples of your work, and further develop issues discussed in the interview. Customize your letter to meet each individual situation.

SOME SUGGESTIONS:

- Address the letter to person(s) with whom you interviewed.
- Send the letter within 1-2 days following the interview.
- Be personal, specific, and sincere in your thanks.
- Provide any additional information that was requested.
- Confirm the employer’s or your follow-up action (if any).
- As always, proofread for errors.

TYPES OF THANK YOU LETTERS

FOLLOWING THE JOB INTERVIEW:
Indicate your appreciation for the opportunity to interview and your interest in working with the organization. Reiterate your qualifications; highlight strengths that may or may not have been mentioned in the interview. Keep it short and to the point.

FOLLOWING AN INFORMATIONAL INTERVIEW:
Thank the individual for taking the time to speak with you regarding his/her field. Mention how the interview was informative and helpful to you. Note that you are following up on any referrals the individual may have made and indicate that you will keep him/her appraised of your progress. A thank you should be sent for telephone interviews as well as personal interviews.

ACCEPTING A JOB OFFER:
The employer will likely request a letter of acceptance. It should be brief. The letter should refer to the offer letter or telephone conversation stating that you accept the offer at a specified salary and starting date. You may express your eagerness to join the organization.

Should you decide not to accept a job offer, a thank you letter is also appropriate. It demonstrates professionalism and offers a bridge to connect in the future.

Los Angeles, CA 90041

Dear Ms. Fields:

Thank you very much for the opportunity to interview for a Physical Therapy Assistant with Eagle Rock Health and Wellness yesterday. Your passion for your work and career has increased my enthusiasm for the position and the interview solidified my interest to work for your clinic, as my values wholeheartedly align with your focus on the holistic well-being of your clients.

I have always enjoyed my Kinesiology classes, and your expertise demonstrated for me how I would leverage my major in a very effective way in this field. Because you were able to show me so many aspects of your work, and were so broadly encouraging, I look forward to applying my knowledge of Physical Therapy and Kinesiology, and my liberal arts background to this position.

Furthermore, I found the way you interact and care for your clients, uniquely inspiring. You have such an excellent personality for this profession, and I can only hope that my level of caring and excitement for patients will some day match yours.

Finally, please pass my gratitude to Ms. Sarah Garcia for joining us in the interview as well. I very much enjoyed meeting her.

Again, thanks for your time and I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely,
