What This Course is About
"Organizing," writes author Si Kahn, "is people working together to get things done." This course focuses primarily on community organizing efforts by people working together to improve their neighborhoods, communities, workplaces, and cities. Community organizing can focus on a wide variety of issues - housing, the environment, public safety, public health and health care, child care, jobs, poverty, discrimination, and many others. We will also focus on union organizing as a complement to community organizing.

The purpose of the course is to help prepare you to be effective leaders. Some of you may want to become professional organizers, but all of you are (and will continue to be) citizens in some community. If you want to be an effective, active citizen who can make a difference in your community, you will need to use the tools of leadership and organization-building.

The course examines the history of community organizing in the United States. It explores the different theories and approaches to effective grassroots organizing. It emphasizes the skills and techniques used to empower people so they can win victories and improve their communities.

The course is intended to be a small, participatory seminar. Active student participation is critical to its success. The course involves five ways of learning:

1. An intensive 12-hour/week internship with an organization engaged in direct organizing and coalition building.
2. We will read several books and a number of articles about organizing, including several case studies, and discuss them in class.
3. We will watch several films (including documentaries) and discuss them in class.
4. We will talk with several guest speakers who have experience as effective organizers and activists.
5. We will participate in several hands-on exercises.
Course Requirements

➢ Internship.
You should already have picked one of these groups to work with during the entire term. You are expected to begin your internship the week of August 24 and work at least 10 hours/week through Tuesday, December 1, the last day of the semester. You will attend meetings and public events, work in the office, meet the staff and members, and undertake research that will help the organization achieve its goals. You will spend at least 12 hours a week working with a community organization in the L.A. area.

➢ Lunchtime Discussions and Films
I've invited several prominent activists, policymakers, and organizers to meet and talk with students for lunchtime discussions (11:30 am to 12:45 pm) immediately following the class. These are required sessions. The lunch sessions are noted in syllabus; a summary list of the lunch dates are included at the end of the syllabus. Lunch will be provided.

➢ Evening Films with Dinner
I have also scheduled three evenings where we’ll share dinner and watch a film that deals with some aspects of organizing and activism. These will begin at 6:30 pm and last until about 8:30 pm. I will let you know the location of these dinners later on. The films and dates are listed below. These evening sessions are required.

➢ Written Assignments (a summary of the written assignments is included at the end of the syllabus)

1. Keep a journal. As part of this course, you should keep a journal. Your journal should record your internship activities. You should take notes on your observations and impressions about the people, the organization, the community, and issues you are dealing with. You should record your own activities -- including the highlights and challenges you observed or experienced. Your journals should be handwritten but depending on your handwriting, you may have to type up your notes. You will turn in your journals with your Final Paper (on Monday, December 7).

2. Complete a preliminary organizational assessment. (Due Thursday, November 5)
Completing this assignment will require you to research and find out information about your organization. Draw on newspaper articles and reports about your organization. You may have to ask your supervisor for information. Since some of the information may be sensitive organizational information, you may want to let your supervisor know that the information will be used only for classroom discussion and the professors will be the only ones reading your assessments. Your assessment should include the following:
   - Provide a one-page summary of the organization’s history, including the date of its founding, its evolution over time, any significant changes in its mission or structure.
   - If your organization has a Board of Directors, list the names of the people on the Board of the organization.
   - Profile the Board of Directors in terms of the following categories: (1) community residents, (2) staff, (3) funders and/or business, (4) allies, (5) attorneys, (6) other
• Annual budget of the organization for each of the past three years. In cases where you might be interning with a union local of a chapter/local office of a statewide organization, you may have to determine local and higher level budgets.
• % of budget devoted to community organizing
• Number of full-time and part-time staff persons with responsibility for community organizing and advocacy Number of full-time and part-time staff persons in the whole organization
• Sources of funding for the organization for each of the past three years, including dues, foundations, fundraisers, other. List the foundations.
  • List the issues that the community organizing staff have worked on in the past three years
  • Describe the group’s key organizing campaigns over the past three years, using a narrative version of the Midwest Academy’s strategy chart. Who are their key constituencies, targets, allies? What are their strategies and tactics? List the outcomes of their community organizing campaigns -- victories, defeats, stalemates.

3. Final Paper (due Monday, December 7 by 5:00 p.m.; no late papers accepted)
Each student in this course is required to write a short paper (15-20 pages) describing and analyzing your internship and the organization you worked with. The paper should draw on the class materials (readings, films, speakers, exercises) as well as your experiences and your journal and your Preliminary Organizational Assessment. The paper should explain what you learned about community organizing, especially, the key elements of effective community organizing, and how well the organization met the criteria of effective organizing.

Your final paper should aim to be objective. That means you should view the organization from a variety of angles and perspectives -- not simply the perspective of your supervisor. You should look organization from the perspective of the staff, the board, constituents, allies, targets, and others. Then you can come to your own conclusion based on having an "outsider's" view of the organization.

In order to write this paper, in other words, you will need to talk to people besides your intern supervisor. Your analysis of the organization's strengths and weaknesses should be based on the criteria we have discussed and read about in class. To help you think about these issues, we will put on the course website a chapter called “Getting to Know the Placement Site” from the book The Successful Internship: Transformation and Empowerment in Experiential Learning by H. Frederick Sweitzer and Mary A. King (third edition, Thompson-Brooks/Cole Publishers, 2009). Please read this chapter before you begin your internship.

The final paper should include an evaluation of the organization and of your internship. Topics should include (but aren't limited to) the following:

• The history of the organization. How it was started and by whom? Why was it started? How and why it has changed since its beginning? What are the organization's missions and goals?

• How is the organization organized? Discuss its budget, staff, board, and sources of funds. Who runs the organization? How does the way it is organized reflected its missions and goals? How does the way it is funded influence what it does?
● How does the organization decide what issues to get involved with? What is the group’s overall strategy? How does it decide on strategy and tactics?

● What is the organization’s constituency? How does it determine what its constituency is?

● How does the organization deals with such matters as leadership, recruiting and maintaining members, maintaining morale, fundraising, research, and the media?

● What impact does involvement in the organization have on the people -- staff, leaders, members?

● Discuss how your internship fit into the organization’s overall activities. Discuss the specific role(s) you played in the organization. Evaluate the pros and cons of your internship.

● Discuss the overall strengths and weaknesses of the organization. Be sure to clarify what criteria you are using.

Grades

Your grade will be based on four things:

1. Participation in class (including lunch and dinner sessions). Students are expected to do the reading before class and actively participate in classroom discussions.

2. Class Exercises. We have developed a series of exercises and assignments throughout the course that you are expected to participate in and, in the case of written exercises, turn in for credit. Completion of these will contribute to your participation in class. They are also key elements of your final paper (see below).

3. Internship. To evaluate your internship, we will discuss your internship activities with the supervisor and with you.

4. Written Assignments: 1) completion of your journal; 2) preliminary assessment of your internship organization; and, 3) final paper. See details above.

Required Readings

Much of the course reading will be found in the books listed below. In addition, all readings with an asterisk (*) will be found on the Moodle site this course. I may occasionally add or switch readings if we think it is appropriate.

Students should also regularly bring to class articles from newspapers or magazines that relate to the topics discussed in the course.

You should purchase the following paperback books. They are for sale at the Bookstore.

- Mary Beth Rogers, Cold Anger: A Story of Faith and Power Politics
- Gabriel Thompson, Calling all Radicals
Plagiarism Policy

Plagiarism consists of any form of passing off, or attempting to pass off, the knowledge or work of others as your own. It is a form of cheating. Examples of plagiarism include: unattributed quotations from a book, magazine or article; copying from the notes or essays of others; the submission of work actually written or dictated by others; and unattributed use of other peoples' ideas. Remember, plagiarism includes information from books, newspapers, journals and the Internet.

Plagiarism is grounds for failing the course and possible expulsion from the college. Students should consult occidental’s student handbook for information on academic misconduct policy at the college: http://www.oxy.edu/student-handbook/academic-ethics/academic-misconduct.

Laptops and Cellphones

- Cell phones and all other electronic devices are to be turned off or put on silent. Additionally, they are to be put away to avoid distraction.
- Laptops are allowed to be used only for taking notes and related classroom assignments.

Recommended Readings

The following paperback books are recommended for basic reference:

Kristin Szakos and Joe Szakos, We Make Change: Community Organizers Talk About What They Do And Why. You will enjoy this book, which has lots of great profiles of and stories about effective organizers working in different parts of the country, in different kinds of organizations, on different issues.

Robert Fisher, Let the People Decide: Neighborhood Organizing in America (2nd edition) This is the best overview of the history of community organizing. It describes various efforts and strategies to organize communities and neighborhoods in this century.

Saul Alinsky, Rules for Radicals and Reveille for Radicals Alinsky was the "father" of community organizing, starting in the 1940s. These two books are the "bibles" of organizing -- the lessons he learned from his decades as an organizer. They are both in paperback, easy to read, and full of great insights, most of which have stood the test of time.

Gregory Pierce, Activism That Makes Sense: Congregations and Community Organization This book discusses the relationship between religious commitment and social activism and describes the role of religious faith in community organizing.

MoveOn.Org, 50 Ways to Love Your Country This is MoveOn's guide to political activism and the many ways Americans can be effective citizens.

Charlotte Ryan, Prime Time Activism This book is a handbook for grassroots activists about dealing with the media.
Mark Warren, Dry Bones Rattling
This is a case study of effective community organizing around a variety of issues in Texas. It is also an analysis of how community organizing relates to the persistent crisis of American democracy -- inequalities of power, participation, and policymaking.

Rinku Sen, Stir it Up: Lessons in Community Organizing and Advocacy and Makani Themba, Making Policy, Making Change: How Communities are Taking Law into Their Own Hands. These two books document grassroots organizing campaigns that focus on media and policy advocacy; the Themba book focuses on public health issues. She includes a chapter case study on the Community Coalition’s organizing campaign to shut down liquor stores in South Los Angeles.

Joan Minieri and Paul Getsos. Tools for Radical Democracy. How to Organize for Power in your Community
This how-to manual includes: 1) In-depth analysis of how to launch and win a campaign; 2) Tools, worksheets and guidelines for training people to lead their own campaigns and organizations; 3) Insights for using technology effectively, building more powerful alliances, and engaging in the social justice movement.

Web Sites
You can use the internet to connect to the larger worlds of public policy, advocacy, and organizing. There are thousands of web sites that deal with social issues and thousands of advocacy organizations and political networks that have their own web sites. Here are several key sites with which you should be familiar. I encourage you to bookmark them so you can find them easily.

Community Organizing and Development (http://comm-org.wisc.edu) -- This site is a link with hundreds of groups involved in urban community development. If you want to find out what groups are working on different urban issues, this is the site. It also has many articles and reports on urban community development and community organizing.

Organizing Upgrade (www.organizingupgrade.com) is a website developed by former organizers to facilitate strategic thinking on how to link community organizing to broader social justice movements rooted in communities.

The Center for Neighborhood Technology (http://www.cnt.org), the National Housing Institute (www.nhi.org), Planners Network (http://www.plannersnetwork.org), Next City (https://nextcity.org) and Citistates (http://www.citistates.com) all focus on innovative research and programs that strengthen urban neighborhoods and metropolitan areas. Each site has links to many other resources about particular issues, programs, cities, and metropolitan areas.

Campus Activism (http://www.campusactivism.org) is a good source of information about organizing efforts on college campuses around different issues. Generation Progress (http://genprogress.org) is one of the most effective progressive student groups, with lots of resources and information on its website. The Workers Rights Consortium (http://www.workersrights.org) is a human rights group that monitors sweatshop conditions around the world and works with United Students Against Sweatshops (http://usas.org) to help student groups that seek a “sweatshop-free” campus.

American Prospect (http://www.prospect.org), The Nation (http://www.thenation.com), and Yes! (http://www.yesmagazine.org) These are three of the most important magazines analyzing American politics from a progressive, grassroots perspective.
Demos - A Network for Ideas and Action (http://www.demos-usa.org/demos); Center for Responsive Politics (http://www.opensecrets.org); Public Campaign (http://www.publiccampaign.org); Good Jobs First (http://www.goodjobsfirst.org); Center on Budget and Policy Priorities (http://www.cbpp.org); California Budget and Policy Center (http://calbudgetcenter.org); and Campaign for America's Future (http://www.ourfuture.org) -- These think tanks all provide interesting policy ideas on such issues as tax policy, campaign finance, anti-poverty policy, economic development, citizen participation, housing and homelessness, voting rights, and others
READINGS, FILMS, SPEAKERS, AND DISCUSSION TOPICS

The course will cover the following topics. Students should have reading (and viewing) assignments completed before the class discussion on the topic. Readings with an asterisk will found on the course Moodle website. We may distribute additional readings during the semester if they seem appropriate and important. (Note: NYT=New York Times; LAT=Los Angeles Times)

Before you begin your internship, you should read “Getting to Know the Placement Site” from the book The Successful Internship: Transformation and Empowerment in Experiential Learning by H. Frederick Sweitzer and Mary A. King (third edition, Thompson-Brooks/Cole Publishers, 2009). It is available on the course Moodle website.
